

Base Line Model where if we remove a store and then predict the store type based on store frequencies, the probability that we predict the correct store type is shown below. It is low.

